

GIVE

The WCTF has supported many fine projects over the years.

As a Board member I can attest to the fact that decisions on grants are made carefully through a painstaking process, with input from the Board, state agencies, and our staff. My husband, Senator John Schiffer, was one of the original proponents of funding the WCTF, noting frequently that this was one way of getting money to projects that may never otherwise be funded, including those in rural areas which would have a harder time getting needed support. He would be happy to see how much has been accomplished for the state.

YOU FUND THE TRUST; WE FUND CULTURAL PROGRAMMING & PROJECTS THAT MAKE WYOMING UNIQUE.

The Wyoming Cultural Trust Fund supports nonprofit cultural organizations and their programs statewide and serves as a catalyst for economic development and job growth. Since 2007 the fund has distributed $6.99 million to grantees.

Each year funding requests far outweigh available funds from the interest earnings on the corpus, a permanent investment fund. Your contribution will increase the availability of funding, from which your community will benefit greatly.

All donors will be recognized on the website and the Annual Report.
